

THE MORRISTOWN GAZETTE

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 11, 1878.

A rush of holiday advertisers in this issue cuts down our usual amount of reading matter. Still, we have endeavored to cheerfully bear with us the influx of custom with those who pay us little or nothing for advertising through the GAZETTE.

Senator Isham G. Harris introduced a bill in the Senate, asking for a special committee to collect facts relating to the yellow fever epidemic in Louisiana, and to the establishment of a national quarantine along the Gulf. This is a very important step, as the epidemic is very virulent. The bill passed the committee and the Senate. The bill was introduced by Mr. Harris, and was passed by a vote of 15 yeas and 10 nays.

Hon. Mike Barnes, so well and favorably known as the President of the First National Bank of Nashville, has resigned his position in said institution, and Sam. J. Keith, Esq., was elected his successor. Mr. Barnes has been President of the Bank for eight years past, and has filled the position to the entire satisfaction of the stockholders and customers of the Bank.

Copying an editorial recently printed in the GAZETTE on the miserable condition of our public roads, and the necessity for legislative action thereon, the Athens Post says: "We not only agree with our contemporary in the above, but hope that in the State, where the press in the State will urge the subject upon the Legislature with all the vigor they possess. Our road laws are not only inefficient, but worthless; and it would be as well to repeal them altogether as to let them stand as at present. With the exception of the State debt, the subject of our public roads is of more importance than any other likely to engage the attention of the General Assembly. Adjust the State debt and give us a road system that will secure good, passable thoroughfares throughout the State, and the beneficial effects will be felt and seen at once."

THE TORRENT ISSUE.

The Supreme Court of the United States last Monday reversed the judgment of the Supreme Court of Tennessee in the Keith case, involving the "new issue" of the Bank of Tennessee. The Supreme Court of this State held that the act of the State of Tennessee, which authorized the Bank of Tennessee to issue currency, was unconstitutional. The Supreme Court of the United States, however, held that the act was constitutional, and that the Bank of Tennessee was authorized to issue currency.

No. 67.—John Keith, plaintiff in error, against E. A. Clark, collector, etc., in error, to the Supreme Court of Tennessee. The principal question involved in this case is whether the State of Tennessee is obliged to receive, in payment of taxes, the notes of the Bank of Tennessee, as it is authorized to do by section 12 of the charter of the bank, in 1868, or whether it is required to receive only the notes of the United States Treasury.

No. 68.—John Keith, plaintiff in error, against E. A. Clark, collector, etc., in error, to the Supreme Court of Tennessee. The principal question involved in this case is whether the State of Tennessee is obliged to receive, in payment of taxes, the notes of the Bank of Tennessee, as it is authorized to do by section 12 of the charter of the bank, in 1868, or whether it is required to receive only the notes of the United States Treasury.

No. 69.—John Keith, plaintiff in error, against E. A. Clark, collector, etc., in error, to the Supreme Court of Tennessee. The principal question involved in this case is whether the State of Tennessee is obliged to receive, in payment of taxes, the notes of the Bank of Tennessee, as it is authorized to do by section 12 of the charter of the bank, in 1868, or whether it is required to receive only the notes of the United States Treasury.

No. 70.—John Keith, plaintiff in error, against E. A. Clark, collector, etc., in error, to the Supreme Court of Tennessee. The principal question involved in this case is whether the State of Tennessee is obliged to receive, in payment of taxes, the notes of the Bank of Tennessee, as it is authorized to do by section 12 of the charter of the bank, in 1868, or whether it is required to receive only the notes of the United States Treasury.

No. 71.—John Keith, plaintiff in error, against E. A. Clark, collector, etc., in error, to the Supreme Court of Tennessee. OUR KNOXVILLE LETTER.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Dec. 7, 1878.

To the Editor of the Morristown Gazette:

PORK PACKING.

Seeing an article in the GAZETTE of this week, alluding to pork packing in Morristown, we are glad to see that there is not much activity in this line in our city. Very few hogs being slaughtered here, nor will there be much present season, judging from what I have seen and heard. Mr. Hugh Martin, who slaughtered largely last year, is not in the business and will not be, I suppose, as he has his fingers burnt last year and is not desirous of risking a similar catastrophe. I know of but one man packing, and that is Mr. F. R. Rags, who erected a packing establishment north of the city and has every facility of doing an extensive business. Still I do not know that he is slaughtering many. He is a safe, quiet, calculating business man and generally knows what he is doing.

It had occurred to me that this was a favorable time for pork packing in view of the prevailing low price of hogs. The best grades can be bought as low down as two and a half cents per one hundred pounds gross in this city with no sort of activity in the market. True, enough a large crop is reported in the Northwest, the largest perhaps for a season, but the price is not so low as it was last year. The farmers of this immediate section are not inclined to sell to the packers at the present price, and will, for the most part, not doubt, pack them themselves. I am disposed to think they are acting wisely, though I have no advice to give in the premises.

Preachers will marry and sometimes they marry when they ought not to, though I would not insinuate this in the case of Mr. J. H. Sturges, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of this city. He is a man of high standing in the community, and his marriage with Miss L. A. Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Barnes, a lady of fine accomplishments and beautiful figure, has been in charge of this church for about twelve months. He is one of the most talented divines in the city, of fine culture, of fascinating manners, and a most genial and companionable gentleman. He is immensely popular, and his marriage is a source of joy to all who know him. I congratulate him upon his good fortune in winning the hand of so estimable a lady. She is of excellent stock, and will make our distinguished friend a charming wife.

Speaking on the State debt question the Morristown GAZETTE says:

"The trouble about Tennessee's bonded debt has not grown out of any desire on the part of her people to repudiate. Nor has it grown out of the fact that Federal legislation has rendered it impossible for her to pay taxes. Let the Federal Government give the country a sufficient volume of circulating medium to meet the needs of the country, and let it leave the hands of the States, so that they can do this for themselves, and the trouble will be over."

It states us that this is just a trifle mixed. We are told that the trouble about paying our bonded debt has "not grown out of the fact that Federal legislation has rendered it impossible for her to pay taxes." It is not the fact that Federal legislation has rendered it impossible for her to pay taxes, but the fact that the Federal Government has not given the country a sufficient volume of circulating medium to meet the needs of the country, and let it leave the hands of the States, so that they can do this for themselves, and the trouble will be over.

As written the only "mixing" in the paragraph is that of hard sense and solid facts.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BEULAH P. O., Dec. 9, 1878.

To the Editor of the Morristown Gazette:

THE HOG INTEREST.

The great interest here, just now, is hogs. And because this is the season of the year when so many big farmers are down in South Carolina with their hogs, and because they are so much interested in the hog business, they are very much interested in the hog business.

I wrote you about the horses around Chester's Office, O. O. dying with blind staggers. The disease is coming to near this office to be comfortable to the farmers. Several have died with the disease within two weeks of the first of the year. I have lately heard from Mr. H. Inman and W. E. Dotson, who went south more than a month ago. When they returned from their trip, they had sold most of their hogs for $4.00 a head. They had heard from Mr. H. Inman and W. E. Dotson, who went south more than a month ago. When they returned from their trip, they had sold most of their hogs for $4.00 a head.

LAND! LAND!!

A GOOD MAN IN THE PROPER PLACE.

We are gratified to learn that Capt. J. C. Hodges, of this place, has agreed to represent Mr. Charles Seymour, well known real estate agent of Knoxville, in Morristown and surroundings.

Mr. Seymour has succeeded in getting up an organization which is likely to result in the sale of much of the surplus land in East Tennessee. He has arranged with many of the most prominent real estate agents in the North and West, whereby purchasers are to be turned hitherward. He has also, as we understand, arrangements with several leading transportation lines whereby immigrants are to be given to persons coming to East Tennessee to buy land. He is represented by a sub-agency at each of the prominent railroad towns from Bristol to Chattanooga. He will himself spend much of his time in the East looking up and sending prospects to East Tennessee. Those having lands for sale cheap would do well to consult Capt. Hodges.

Mr. J. A. Rayl was re-elected a member of the Board of Education, last Saturday night, by the Common Council of Knoxville. This is a deserved compliment to a gentleman who has for years been a most efficient and active member of the Board. He is a man of high standing in the community, and his election is a source of pride to all who know him.
